Center is where I see myself
In the beginning
Im sitting in the middle of a crowded room
Nobody hears me
Trying to reach out
Just trying to scream out
Im so pathetic is how I see myself
Im just a joke
Im running out this life
People tell me not to waste it
But how can I taste it
When I never lived
When I never loved
When I never lied

Im just a stain
Im trying to make my mark
On a spot thats been dark for a long time
Been a long time since a panic
Broken down a systematic life that God gave me.
So try to save my faith thats going out the window That Im looking down from One more step and Ill be on the ground from a sinner
Try to make a true believer Well, ho, I never was

Youll probably run and hide

Life reality hits me in the stomach
Aches like a fist in my mouth
I should have said nothing
To make everything fall apart n my face
Well youre the one whos crying
So try to see the world from the flipside

Running out of line with no one ever watching my back Ah, cold mother fucker
Never seem to realize Im not your wanna be

Youll probably run and hide

In the beginning
Im sitting in the middle
Im just a joke
But how can I taste it
When I never lived or fucking lied
