It seems like the same reasons I fell in love
Are the same reasons I can't stand you now
We used to be inseparable, but people change, like the seasons
You're unpredictable, and it's getting pretty cold
I don't know if I should keep the clothes
When you take off your clothes
I, I loose it, loose it, loose it, loose it
I, I loose it, loose it, loose it, loose it
You're unpredictable

First it was last, then we got a test
And you never worried about my past But who wouldn't have known that we would make it hit
After a night, no, whoa
I couldn't have known, that you would have this kind of hold on me, on me Your eyes have a glow on like anything before, you're so originals

It seems like the same reasons I fell in love
Are the same reasons I can't stand you now
We used to be inseparable, but people change, like the
seasons
You're unpredictable, and it's getting
pretty cold
I don't know if I should keep the clothes
When you take off your clothes
I, I loose it, loose it, loose it, loose it
I, I loose it, loose it, loose it, loose it
You're unpredictable

Can I touch you girl? Can I count on you Can I be the one, to put it down on you
So light the candles baby, cause your body is a canvas
Let me paint it for you! Yeah
I know what you want, so let me undress you Girl stop the talk, spare me your lecture
And get a second change, to make a first impression

And I can love you better
Ain't it ironic baby girl

It seems like the same reasons I fell in love
Are the same reasons I can't stand you now
We used to be inseparable, but people change, like the
seasons
You're unpredictable, and it's getting
pretty cold
I don't know if I should keep the clothes
When you take off your clothes
I, I loose it, loose it, loose it, loose it
I, I loose it, loose it, loose it, loose it
You're unpredictable.7
