"Computer Love"

[Chorus] Every planet that we come across Is empty and there's only us Fall down, then we get back up Hard wired for computer love Computer love, computer love Computer love, computer love Hard wired for computer love [Joelistics] I'm a modern day +Blade Runner+, take cover Code breaker with a stun gun called a microphone Take an upper and a painkiller brother Insane how we suffer on this planet that we call home Time travelling through the universe Third stone from the sun on battleship Earth Hunt down all the +Replicants+, clones in the tenements Probe this planet for intelligence Is there life on Mars or on any other stars? Is there anybody out there or are we all alone? Call on the telephone, only get a dead tone Maybe this is all that there is right? Send a satellite out into the dark night Knowing that the whole time it might be lifeless Split an atom with a drum pattern These are the impressions of a planet in crisis [Chorus] [Seed MC] Yo, computer love Jump in cortex brain response Limbs shake, this bass is way beyond On this ball we all dance upon Stratosphere, atmosphere and love Up in the cosmic octave We chase down alien life to rock with And back on Earth we just got this Hot piece of rock that we call the shots with We're just a blister in the sun In the infinite distance up above You go fathom universal forces Oh shit, I think I just lost my orbit But fear is a fact that I forfeit So I walk where the eye of the storm is Let your mind spin right off course Into a black hole full of soul, so gorgeous [Chorus]
