I've sat and watched you for days
Mesmerized
Memorizing
Every line, every curve
I breathe to feel you
You tremble
Hands grip tight
(We'll never know, we'll never know) You feel me
(We'll never know, we'll never know) I move

The poetry of silence is mine
I feel you in my heart and in my mind
The strength that I've shown in this game
Is frozen in my heart like your name

I'd wipe the sweat from your face
Open your eyes
Taste your skin
Something so familiar
Safe
A little boy
A mother's arms
As shadows dance upon our wall
My longing...
(We'll never know, we'll never know)
(We'll never know, we'll never know)
...removed

The poetry of silence is mine
The strength that I've shown in this game
Is frozen in my heart like your name

When you come tonight, to our small room
You will look and listen, I shall not be there
You will cry out your dismay, to the unheeding gods
You will wait, look, and listen... I shall not be there

There is a part of you I love, more than your hands and mine at rest
There is a part of you I love, more than your lips upon my breast

There is a part of you I wound, even in my caress

There is a part of you you withhold, I may not possess

There is a part of you I hate, your need of me

When you would be alone, our love is free

When you come tonight, to our small room

You will look and listen, I shall not be there

We'll never know, we'll never know

We'll never know, we'll never know (It's a beautiful world)

The poetry of silence is mine

The strength that I've shown in this game

Is frozen in my heart like your name
