Break down

You wouldn't want me (x3)

Caught in the world break down

Forfeit to a liar

For it seems only time will tell

The focus to aspire

Wake in the morning

Can't fight the feeling

We are the cause and not the cure

Ignore the warning a shred of meaning

To a vague and distant shore

In circuitry and faded flowers

There used to be something showing

Eternity in wasted hours

There used to be something growing

Break down

You know you want it

Caught in the world break down

Passionless desire

Symmetry in synthetic hell

Silicon perspire

Wake in the morning

First sign of terror is the man inside your door

Ignore the warning behind the mirror

There's nobody keeping score

In circuitry and faded flowers

There used to be something showing

Eternity in wasted hours

There used to be something growing

Break down

You know you want it

Tell yourself it isn't real (x6)

It isn't real

It isn't real

Break down (x5)

You know you want it

It isn't real
