How many times will I believe what you say?
How many minutes can you counted every day?
How many times will I forgive you when you're cruel?
How many times can a man be a fool?

I'd like to leave you, I'd like to go today
But if I leave you, I know I couldn't stay
I'd crawl back though I know you've broken every rule
How many times can a man be a fool?

I'd walk away but I'd melt when you speak
I'd walk away but your kiss leaves me weak
I'd get so mad with myself for acting meek
When will I learn not to turn the other cheek?

How many heartaches will come before I'm through
How many lies till I turn back on you
I guess, the answers one will never teach in school
How many times can a man be a fool?
I guess, the answers one will never teach in school
How many times can a man be a fool?
