Love is a light, love is a light
Love is a lantern burning, burning bright
Brighter by far than any star in sight
Love is a lantern love is a light

When two lovers kiss if their love is true
Their lips will create a tiny spark or two
When our lips first met the spark's became a flame
Now I light up every time you whisper my name

Love is a light, love is a light

When I'm close to you I feel such a glow
Way down deep inside my heart it's bound to show
And when we're apart wherever I roam
Your love is a beacon light calling me back home

Love is a light, love is a light
