I'm running running from heartbreak
I haven't been running long still it seems like year
One night very soon I know heartbreak will catch me sleeping and so
When I wake up my pillow will be wet with tears
I'm running running from memories
Memories so sweet I must leave them all behind
One day very soon I'm sure I remember more than I can endure
Just thinking of you will drive me right out of my mind

Running running to parties running from girl to girl
Running long as you're running love's a merry word (Running) uh huh (running and laughing) uh huh
As long as I'm in a crowd I can play the clown
But later when the crowd's all gone when I find myself all alone
I'll run out of places to run and it gets me down
Just running I'm running (running)
