"One Of My Lies"

When I was younger I thought the world circled around me

But in time I realized I was wrong

My immortal thoughts turned into just dreams of a dead future

It was a tragic case of my reality

Do you think you're indestructable

And no one can touch you

Well I think you're disposeable

And it's time you knew the truth

Cause it's just one of my lies!

Why does my life have to be so small?

Yet death is forever

And does forever have a life to call its own?

Don't give me an answer cause you

Only know as much as I know

Unless you're been there once

Well I hardly think so

I used to pray all night

Before I lay myself down

My mother said it was right

Her mother said it too...
