Farewell to all, I'm in arms of eternal sleep In mourning hall your sorrow for me is too deep No feeble thought, you gaze into the void Think what you are before the eternity
Staring with awe yet unbelieving
The vision before your eyes - the bloodstained flowers...
An
everlasting torment Moaning, crying, in flowers body lying Rain of tears is pouring from your mourning eyes Depression, sorrow, for me there's no tomorrow
Now
you take all pain and grief for my demise My coat is shroud and the coffin is my only home Don't moan so loud, let me rest, don't make my soul roam Blessed are the strong, the strong with spirit And grief is suppressed by fierce impact
The flash of insight reveals desire To join me within my grave - the godless craving...
An act of desperation Don't cry for me, can't you see - I feel better now
My soul is free so get near and kiss my cold brow
And no tears last - the chalice is empty Extinct the feelings, fear's gone and forgotten
And in your dream
I beckon to follow
Come share my afterlife... I'll wait
