Where was I when you decided things would end like this.

I never said I was okay.

And now my bleeding eyes meet.

Bloody fingernails.

Throwing out the words to try and make it right.

Lets flier the sky with the letters you wrote to me.

Over and over again.

This is not the time to waste on what your feeling.

You always get the better of me and now.

I'm leaving you to yourself.

It's not like I'm missing much.

This is all you're getting from me.

Another sad song like another bad dream.

And I've been taken for granted.

This time you've gone too far.

You made it clearer in the first place that.

You never cared.

I'm sick of wasting all my time.

And your pathetic stands to try and make it right.

Are all forgotten lost.

And empty like your heart.

So get up and run.

I wont forget.

To hate you forever.

This time you've gone too far.
