"The War Within"

You're so in love with yourself
That you hate yourself, you hate yourself
You're so in love with yourself
That you hate yourself, you hate yourself

So there it begins, the war within
So there it begins, the war within
The war within

See the lions, see the dragons, see the beast
See the star that's rising in the east
Feel the trembling of the earth at your feet

See the end and see the evil, see the pride
Feel the fear of the darkness of their lives
See the arrogance burning in their eyes

So there it begins, the war within
So there it begins, the war within
The war within

So there it begins, the war within
So there it begins, the war within

Oh, I feel the trembling of the earth
I feel the earth trembling under my feet
See a star that's rising, shining in the east

How long? How long? How long?
How long? How long? How long?
How long? How long? How long?
How long? How long? How long?
