Do you need someone, do you need a friend
Or do you just need somebody that lets you pretend

Do you need someone, someone to hold
That lets the light shine through, but still protects you when you're cold

Sometimes you've just got to let go, the world's not a bad place
But still watch what you show, you've just got to let go You've just got to let go

Let's walk through the trees, avoid falling debris
My angel is looking over me, I'll say it again
There's no sin in loving yourself
And letting life begin again

Just let yourself go, just let yourself go, just let yourself go

Do you need someone, do you need a friend
Or do you just need somebody that lets you pretend
