every raindrop

Take the razor-sharp away
I want to glide into today
If I blend my heat with cold there will be a room so bold

And I refuse to see the maze and the anguish on my face in the fortress of my home
I am waiting for the dawn

Every raindrop, every raindrop is a blessing

I gave all my gold away to be naked here today I wanna give my loathed sins into the all-forgiving wind I am sinking with no end always floating up again and the clouds are passing by through my window to the sky

Every raindrop, every raindrop is a blessing

Courage is the key
a flood is rising within me

Every raindrop, every raindrop is a blessing
