Everyone I talk to is fighting emptiness Far too many crossroads, security is less Life comes with no manuals and little are we taught Happiness and freedom are promoted to be bought

But it isn't all that easy when you're made out of fire
And it isn't all that easy when you're bursting with desire
And it isn't all that easy
when you haven't got a clue and that blindfold is blinding you

Well, look at my ex-boyfriend
-he's just spinning 'round
He says he's feeling crazy but he's just not getting down
And every weekend we go clubbing
We're insecure and safe And everyone is thinking that the other one has faith

Give me a religion, lead me to the light or fill me up with drugs that make me crazy for a night
'Cause I am on a ride that isn't taking me to dawn Give me back my childhood make me feel secure and warm
