Don't worry 'bout the bottles
And the lamps they broke
Don't worry 'bout the carpet stain
Someone will clean that up

The bathtub's overflowing
Your mom's bras are hanging
From the ceiling fan
Your best friend in your sister's bed

It don't matter that we won't remember
As long as we don't forget
As long as we don't forget

The sunlight crawls across the floor
We've done some things
We haven't done before
I think that it was good
But I'm not sure

I hope I didn't break your heart
Over before it could start
When we are grownups
We can clean that up

It don't matter that we won't remember
As long as we don't forget
As long as we don't forget

The evidence was thrown away
Garbage cans in my drive way
But maybe someday we will meet again
And maybe someday we will meet again
