(Hammill)

"Alone, alone" the ghosts all call, pinpoint me in the light;

The only life I feel at all is the presence of the night.

Would you cry if I died?

Would you cry if I died?

Would you catch the final words of mine?

Would you catch my words?

I know that there's no time; I know that there's no rime...

False signs find me

I don't want to hate / I just want to grow /

Why can't I let me live and be free - but I die very slowly

Alone

I know no more ways / I am so afraid /

Myself won't let me just be myself and so I am completely

Alone.
