Give me a minute or maybe two
Ima lay it down simple and true
Words from the gutter the dirty streets
From the people stuck on the backseats
This life is for a chosen few
Not for me and not for you
My friend I know I feel your pain
This cold and everlasting rain
I see you fight I see you struggle
You try to keep up with this fuckin' jungle
No money no job, no lady luck
Society it don't give a fuck
I see good men turn into hos
I guess these days anything goes
But now I know, now I see
People like me is necessary

We make mistakes and we hurt
The ones we love most in the world
And I guess it's true what they say
In the end we all must pay
For all the fucked up shit we've done
To each and every single one
We're all gonna get what we deserve
We try to live but we never learn
One step forward two steps back
Before you know it back in black
Addiction, hunger, misery
Forever a part of me
And No muthafucka you don't wanna be
A character in this scary movie
Now I know now I see
People like me is necessary
