

So They Say "A Beautiful Plan"

I wrote down the best part of our story
To whom it may concern
I think your beautiful plan lacks style

Imagine what they could do
With a little more time and a little more passion
You're trying too hard to get a reaction

State the words right now
To separate the truth from your intentions
Your cold flesh tangled up in snakes
And it's just as I expected but, oh no, I don't think so

Save some breath for the ending
Save some breath for the ending

Why don't you make your move
'Cause your acting like I'm on trial
(Now the pieces are set and the game is emotion)
But don't you forget the worst is yet to happen

State the words right now
To separate the truth from your intentions
Your cold flesh tangled up in snakes
And it's just as I expected but, oh no, I don't think so

Save some breath for the ending
Save some breath for the ending
