And how can I believe one thing you said
When hearin' the truth in you so hard?
The lies you fed were easily red
How can I believe in love at all?

Close to me this seemed to be
But the more I care, the further I fall

So, next time I won't care about no one
That's right, they can do it on there own
Next time you want to hurt somebody
Well, it's to late, I'm already gone

And I can never walk three steps behind
I never follow, the further you stood from me
To get to you the harder I tried and now
I can only hope my love transcends

So next time 'round when they bring me down
I won't be that fool, I could do it all again

So next time I won't care about no one
That's right, they can do it on there own
Next time you want to hurt somebody
Well, it's to late, I'm already gone

I don't care about no one
That's right, they can do it on there own
Next time you're gonna miss my love
Well, it's to late, I'm already gone

And then if you call me up
Just to say that you were sorry
I'd say that's not enough
Baby, I'll remind you

Next time I won't care about no one
That's right, they can do it on there own
Next time you want to hurt somebody
Well it's to late, I'm already gone

I don't care about no one

That's right, they can do it on there own
Next time you're gonna miss my love
Well, it's to late, I'm already gone
Next time, that's right, next time
