As I wait for a sign very patiently
Out of touch with the way it used to be
Constant thought of a stagnant relationship
Being to haunt me so much
Eve looking for another chance to be
Like a brother with someone watching over me
Always striving to revive this relationship
God I miss you so much
As I wait for you voice so impatiently
Getting farther from the way that it's support to be
My darkest hour in the this futile relationship
God I need you so much
Live ever after in the knowledge that
I cared fir you enough to save your soul
It doesn't matter if it's ever enough
Or it feels like too much
Cause it's always prefect love
You cannot measure what you don't understand
Cause you're only a man
Just am image of truth
Just remember that you have to let go
And let me take control
Cause I'm watching over you
It's been awhile since you felt like a friend to me
Haunted by the silence of this lonely mentality
It's been a long time since you felt like a friend to me
Vision blurred by this dormant intensity
God I miss you so much
