Wake up with a frown in a town that's so down but there's sunlight on the Horizon
You were dark you were grey the satisfaction that played I thought I was Just a shoulder to cry on,
And they hid inside the night, sometimes all wrapped up in fright, and all This crime and all this sight, can shun your body down tonight,
So they breathe, and leave

Owner of
Owner of that kind of heart

Well times been obscured by your overtures and windows were guiding lights I was trying to explain something in my brain A contemplation of the Highest order
And though they hid inside this bloody night and yes they were trapped up Fright and feelings they were just right they were just right tonight
So breathe and leave

Owner of
Owner of
Owner of (that kind of heart)

Owner of Owner of Owner of
Owner of

Now I'm out in the woods re-gauging my mood and reflections shine from Every tree
The owner of is the owner of is the owner of himself and not the one for Hypocrisy and yes

This light is moving me inside; this moment of time is turning me around

Owner of That kind of heart
Owner of

“I remember the time in that place”

Owner of That kind of heart

And he is only walking out the door way screaming and She’s only fuming at the mouth now screaming, No way, this time! All theses bloody rules inside!
Well you got to help me out get me, right now
