It's gonna pull you from the dance

Shift your weight out of there

Fast asleep in a room somewhere

You nearly lost your name in there

Everybody knows

When you dance too slow

You're all alone, on your own

Just lay the sequence in your head

Embrace the fact you're someone else

Everybody knows

When you dance too slow

No-one ever comes and says, hello

Everybody knows

When you dance too slow

You're all alone, on your own

Calling your name from across the room

Still in the rooms, everything went boom

This reception it doesn't come in clear

You just can't make the connection, dear

Everybody knows

When you dance too slow

No-one ever comes and says, hello

Everybody knows

When you dance too slow

You're all alone, on your own
