Can you feel it in the air; a reverent awe runs through my bones
As I tremble and I stare; I've never seen a site like this All of the stars they start to cry, the rivers run from all their tears
All of creation starts to smile when it thinks of what we're about to see

You, You came for me
Lord You came for me and everyone's singing
You, You came for me
And all Your majesty is shown You've come to bring me home

No more daughters with absent fathers; no more boys are bruised
No more hunger and devastation; all the soldiers drop their guns
Never another broken heart; I'll never be abandoned again
All of the pain and stress departs as all creation stands to see

Chorus

You've come to bring me home
Sweep me away

Chorus

Glory, show Your glory; and give me mercy to drink it all Glory, show Your glory; and give me mercy to drink it
all Glory, de-veil me slowly; and give me mercy to stand in awe
