In the back of my mind, well I thought my god
'Cause all of the hell that's in my time
But I can still see the birds
And where they went this year

Our winter made things hazy and I know
That I was losing site of my hometown
And in my blacking out I think I let you down
Don't let them try to save me
'Cause I'm already crazy

And there is something in your face
That pulls me far enough away
I guess that I always knew
That I'd find you when I thought

That I'd be letting out my darkest now
And in my climbing out I think I let you live
I wish you'd try to save me
Your silence makes me crazy

It takes a lot to say that something is fate
I kind of know where you're headed
Am I too up front or am I just on time
Well where is your head at

And there is something in your face
That pulls me far enough away
I guess that I always knew
That I'd find you when I thought

I reached my point, I let them down
I slept in the worst part of this town
You are my song
And you are where I want to be

I want to take those steps I never have
I need to stand up straight
So I can feel your breath
I really think for once that I can change
It's really not that bad

I'm learning now that I was wrong in everything
And that's the reason why I think that I can grow
It's really not that bad

It's in the way you had
It's in the way you had
Me all wrapped up like
I'm a part of something finally and I'm never looking back

And there is something in your face
That pulls me far enough away
I guess that I always knew
That I'd find you when I thought

I reached my point, I let them down
I slept in the worst part of this town
You are my song
And you are where I want to be

I reached my point, I let them down
I slept in the worst part of this town
You are my song
And you are where I want to be
