any beautifull love word remind me of you i think of you fo so long

come to me and take me and live in between my arms my life is for you for so long any beautifull love word it remind of you i think off you for so long

and live between my arms i livemy life for you i dream of you and your eyes for so long for so long every breeze and every touch i remmber it and it's beatiful with you i worry about you for so long always in my mind and night are making us strangers me and you for so long baby most precious who told you i can forget you days and nights if you just come bake i will love you again for so long come to me take me live between my arms i lived my life for you i dream of you and you eyes for so long for so long any beautiful love word remind me of you come to me take me live between my arms any beautifull live word it remind me of you
