little one
lost your mind
what has begun what will we find and meet me in the back of your head then write letters you'll promise to send when I'm dead haven't seen me lately something moved far away maybe when this is over I'll come out and play stay awake one more hour until the moon falls asleep and stay with me over the rainbow before you wander back home help me find my way back to the bedroom cause if I don't soon I'll lose my mind cause these are days that are harder now lingering silent promises haven't seen through my eyes since i disappeared tell me I'm crazy or tell me we both got carried away I still love you
