"Seven"

i'm suddenly aware we might be worlds apart figment my imagination, i feel you there a flickering of a warmth that brings me home a part of me that's so far away, a distant essence of myself reminds me of familiarity, like someone i used to know why do you feel so far away? perhaps its all in my head, possibly me that's insane into these waves, these silent steps i take to you into this light, into my waves, come and crash into my soul compensate for my hole, every step that i take brings me closer to you you haunt my dreams, i miss you so much when i am awake you're touching me, at times it causes me to tremble please give to me, please open up my mind a part of me, inside of you...fell so far away
