(B. Rush)

All night through the motions
Dinner, wine, mixed emotions
She even looks a little like you

With conversation very light
I talk her into staying the night
It fell into place so smooth

Now my lips are on hers
But my mind is on you
No matter what I tell my brain to do

Can't stop thinking of you
I can't stop thinking of you
Can't stop thinking of you

Next night, 'round ten
Loneliness strikes again
I got to have some company

So I get out the book for a little look
A hot number jumped, my body shook
And trembled at the memory

Now she's melting in my hands
But you're still burning in my heart
No matter what I tell my brain to do

Can't stop thinking of you...
