I break through walls and stumble down beneath your feet to look Into your eyes them brave protectors of your thoughts I hold my hands up in the rain Catch your tears inside my palms See the iris in your eyes slowly melting its disguise

I can still recall
the silent truth that night you pulled me in
and gently took my hand
to touch your virgin heart and I can't believe
you let me get so close Closer everyday

We sleep in silence as we synchronize our breath at night I wrap my arms around your warmth and pray you don't drift off When the crack of dawn appears and we're challenged by the light I see the iris in your eyes does not dress in its disguise no more

I can still recall
and I can't believe

when I touched you where you had not been touched before I realised my heart was just as much A virgin as yours

I can still recall
and I can't believe
Closer everyday
