(Royston Langdon)

The first single, "I Want to Live", is an empowering tale of a girl on a path to self-discovery, in the vein of Roxy Music during the ever-great Eno days.

Young girl, it's not only you
But only you can decide
When everything's rosy here
And you've made up your mind

Then come back child cause it's cold outside
Your Momma don't care and it's dark in here
She said "f--- it, f--- it"

(Chorus)

I'm faceless and lonely
I ain't too sure
But I want to live just a little bit more
To shine like an angel, ride like a whore
Well I want to live just a little bit more
Once something meant something here
It's more than money could buy
Ten dollars tore us apart back then
Behind the love thing she hides

Then come back child cause it's cold outside
Your Daddy's gone square and it's dark up there
You know "f--- it, f--- it"

(Chorus) x 3

I'm faceless and lonely (x3)
Well I want to live just a little bit more
I'm faceless and lonely (x3)
Well I want to live just a little bit, give just a little bit, live just a little bit more
