"The Gravity"

Visit "The Gravity" on MotoLyrics.com

You're the gravity that pulls me down
I'm the satellite crashing through to the ground
We'll throw a parade on the day that I return
Darling will I ever learn? Darling will I ever learn?

All my weakness gets caught up in my knees when you get near
I said I'm on my feet just fucking rising up again
I'm back against old ways (back against old ways)
With an ominous tongue that screams I don't belong here
I'm not losing any ground just burning up in your atmosphere

Come now and signal the escape

You're the gravity that pulls me down
I'm the satellite crashing through to the ground
We'll throw a parade on the day that I return
Darling will I ever learn? Darling will I ever?

Five four three two one now I'm crashing to the ground
I'll stand up like a man if you think that it could to help my heart expand
(To help my heart expand)
My calico decisions in your hand Could you leave me standing here?

Come now and signal the escape

You're the gravity that pulls me down
I'm the satellite crashing through to the ground
We'll throw a parade on the day that I return
Darling will I ever learn? Darling will I ever learn?

I need to see an ocean an ocean (and let the water cover me)
I need to be by your side by your side (while we're standing by the sea)

You're the gravity that pulls me down

I'm the satellite crashing through to the ground
We'll throw a parade on the day that I return
Darling will I ever learn?
Darling will I ever learn?
