Lying awake in a stranger's town
Hearing my heart make a broken sound
As I'm wondering about you
And what you're doing now

Taking a breath and remembering
Full of regret for so many things
I reach out in the darkness
To wherever you are

There's a thousand miles
And a million tears between us
And I can't undo what I've done
And I'm sure there's a hundred ways
I can tell you that I'm sorry
But when it comes down to a second chance
All I need is one

Time is road going just one way
Can't turn around back to yesterday
If I knew how to do that
I know I wouldn't be here

What if I told you I loved you still
That's something that distance and time won't kill
And it sure makes you lonely
When you do it alone

There's a thousand miles
And a million tears between us
And I can't undo what I've done
And I'm sure there's a hundred ways
I can tell you that I'm sorry
But when it comes down to a second chance
All I need is one night with you to find tomorrow

Just one right to wipe away the wrong
And I can't undo what I've done
And I'm sure there's a hundred ways
I can tell you that I'm sorry
But when it comes down to a second chance

All I need is one

Lying awake in a stranger's town
Hearing my heart make a broken sound
As I'm wondering about you
And what you're doing now
