Alone, it could be alright
I'll make it alright
Have to get by
Have to get by on my own

Today I found this moment
I leaned in and stole it
And this is the start
This is the start of it all

I was born into this world
I've done all I was told
But oh, I did it too slow

I walked the straightest line
I finished it all in time
But oh, it's not enough for you

I'll steal your cries, I'll take your life
And run it all aground
I'll believe your lies, I'll take your life
And run it all aground

The time wore down this passion
Forced it, foretold that I could learn
It wasn't enough

I lost my head at the thought of losing
I fell apart when it came to choosing you
It's time to get it right

I'll steal your cries, I'll take your life
And run it all aground
I'll believe your lies, I'll take your life
And run it all aground

Alone, it could be alright
I'll make it alright
Have to get by
Have to get by on my own

I was born into this world

I've done all I was told
But oh, I did it too slow

I walked the straightest line
I finished it all in time
But oh, it's not enough

I'll steal your cries, take your life
And run it all aground
I'll believe your lies, take your life
And run it all aground
