You're going out tonight to paint the town a little shade of red

And you can try to find a way to get me back
But you won't stay, so why don't you go away!

You said you'll never be alone
Do you think that maybe I could be the one?
You said you'll never act alone
Do you keep me hanging on here just for fun?

I'm going out tonight to drink the thought of you away
And I'm not gonna try to keep a part in playing this game with you
Get up! get out!
Or just let me be
Get up! get out!
'Cuz I just can't take the heartbreak on repeat

This is the calm before the storm comes down and crashes on your coast
This is the way your body dies, but then your spirit doesn't rise
And I'm haunted by your ghost
