

We Set The Sun

"Cody"

Visit "Cody" on MotoLyrics.com

Cody's life was like a movie
As they saw what I was about to see
And every spectators blood ran cold
This passion to refuse from norm

And every moment that he fell
And every second that he held
It's just a glimpse of imagination
That makes me feel what he felt

I see these walls in front of me
I can't believe the price I've paid
The light is flashing in my eyes
A single star falls from the skies

As he made his way back home
He reached the freeway
And switched off the lights
Hindered through borders
For things you can't border
With heroine in his veins
Everything seems like heaven

And every moment that he fell
And every second that he held

The heroine in my veins
Sweet perfumed air
Surrounds me

I see these walls in front of me
I can't believe the price I've paid
The light is flashing in my eyes
A single star falls from the skies

I see these walls in front of me
I can't believe the price I've paid
I see these walls in front of me

