

Wet Desert

"If I Were You"

Visit "If I Were You" on MotoLyrics.com someone I didn't like with glaring eyes focussing on my former self-poised to criticise all actions being done , trying to deride everything I didn't do myself just wasn't right

Ref.:

If I were you I'd throw my self in front of a driving train

I'd take a knife sharpen the blades and use it violently on my vein

I'd climb and jump off the highest and the rockiest of hills

I'd go to the pharmacy and gorge myself on sleeping-pills

I walked with my nose held high-with a swollen breast the cock of the walk thinking I was best but simply couldn't cope with the power that others had all that they'd achieved made me feel so bad

Ref.:

maybe my image of you is incomplete maybe my perspective is zooming the wrong side it might be the case that my thoughts are obsolete but it could just aswell be the case that I am right and I tried to write a song but I had lost all my skill and all my creativity was particular ill couldn't feel music any more had no melodies in my mind and as I tried to concentrate it all went awry

Ref.:

the nightmare found its end , I woke up soaked in sweat

with my sheets torn apart lying beside my bed and I kissed the day hello and I was so happy to see my face as it had been-I thanked god that I was me

Ref

Visit Wet Desert page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.