Breaking it in, turning it sideways
Every five days, off the record
Maybe, making something up
Taking it in, taking it badly
Taking it exactly how it should have
Maybe, making up is

Something that I'll never take
And it's something that I'll never take
And it's something that I'll never take

Taking it back, taking the bus home
There's nobody else home
Tell me something awful
Waking up in

Something that I'll never take
When it's something that I'll never take
When it's something that I'll never take

And there's a man outside your house
And he's got your number
Well, I got you covered

But it's something that I'll never take
But it's something that I'll never take
But it's something that I'll never take

And it's something that I'll never take
When it's something that I'll never take
And it's something that I'll never take
And it's something
