It took a while but it drove me senseless
Now they say I'm not "Compos Mentis" * Little wonder I'm still hearing it all Staring off from the guilt free on the wall
That's what it happens when you mess with matches:
Everything should reduce to ashes
Now I'm lost and broken hearted
My dreams have barely started

You never gonna drive those demons out of my mind
I know you're gone but you're never out of my mind Still see those pictures of hell that sent me out of my mind

My memory's photographic; Some of those images stop the traffic
It wasn't me, it wasn't you; the feel I had was nothing new I'm not guilty but I'm conscious, of that lead weight on my conscience
Another thing I have to mention, sadly there's no redemption

You never gonna drive those demons out of my mind
I know you're gone but you're never out of my mind
Still see those pictures of hell that sent me out of my
mind

Ow, what a lonely life
Ow, what a lonely life

You never gonna drive those demons out of my mind
I know you're gone but you're never out of my mind
Still see those pictures of hell that sent me out of my mind
