(Melissa Etheridge)
Past the devil's own temptation
Beyond where angels sleep
To the holy invocation
Of a neon city street
I feel your hand I hold you
Through your eyes I see
My love wherever I go
I take you with me
Down the road of my desires
To the oceans of my peace
Through the fueling of my fires
Until my yearnings cease
I hear your voice I know you
In your arms I sleep
My love wherever I go
I take you with me
Even though I've fed my hunger
Even though I've named my fear
I'll never understand it
How the journey led me here
But I have made a promise
That I intend to keep
My love wherever I go
I take you with me
