the phone rings Suddenly, it's the time to leave for you suddenly even a man cries when my head is on your skirt stroking on his loneliness, desist of you and your world really to be in love with her really loves your body bullet and baton on your steps, behind the dagger of your friends among this lovely world, your best friend would be your enemy

Best friend would be your enemy

Chorus x 2:

get to be interested in blue sky, showing love to everyone then sacrificing your self for your friend , and your friend would be in love with your wife a suitcase sitting on your shoulder , wounds on the beaten heart a Valley called Freedom would be the destination of your railway

Love is a pause before awakens , a choice between algebra and algebra poison cup in your trembly hands likewise the blade would be on your neck tired of revolution and freedom , bringing a lighter out , maybe an Inconclusive 18th Tir will be in your Bahman cigarette ..
