My soul is weak
My eyes are blind
The fire that drove me on
Is nothing more than dust and ash
The day my friend was gone

Now we got his name on the rock again
And this time it's the last

And he got his flowers and his friends, I'm sure
The party's over fast

So put your hand in my hand
And baby, we'll forget
That life had even started
Before our hands had met

My rotten bones are full of holes
My skin just holds them in
I might look like I'm damaged
But the damage is deep within

So put your hand in my hand
And baby, we'll forget
That life had even started
Before our hands had met
