since the day they got married he been prayin for a little baby boy someone he could take fishin throw the football and be his pride and joy he could all ready see him holdin that trophy takin his team to state when the nurse came in with a little pink blanket all those big dreams changed and now hes wrapped around her finger shes the center of his whole world and his heart belongs to that sweet little beautiful wonderful perfect all american gurl sixteen short years later she was fallin for a senior football star before you knew it it was drop in passes skipin practice just to spend more time with her the coach said hey son a watchea problem tell me have you lost your mind daddy said youll lose your free ride to collage boy you better tell her good bye but now hes wrapped around her finger shes the center of his whole world and his heart belongs to that sweet little beautiful wonderful perfect all american and when they got married they decided to have one of their own she said be honest tell me what you want and he said honey you awda know see the little beautiful oh just like you oh beautiful wonderful perfect american now hes wrapped around her finger shes the center of his whole world and his heart belongs to that sweet little beautiful wonderful perfect all american gurl all american gurl
