Sometimes I could see a little passage in the century

Sometimes I wanna die like a razor falling from the sky

Don't tell me a lie about diamonds in the green country

Don't be afraid if I choose a way for me to stay

Walk on and on and on

Picking up the truth that's crossing your way

Late at night when I fall asleep

I see an angel falling down to my feet

With broken wings and a cut in his heart

It's crippled hands searching for life

Crying out and falling down

Crucified like the lost

Poison in every street in every heart

In every child

Walk on and on and on
