He stares into the night sky,
And his eyes begin to shut,
Dreams remind him they once love him,
But this time it's not enough.

To save him from the pain and make it through today.

He spreads his arms and tries so hard just to fly away,
Into a life that he once knew, free from tears and pain.

He walked this road a thousand times,
Before it all went wrong,
Tried so hard to just escape,
Tried hard to just stay strong.

But he can't find the strength to make it through today.

He spreads his arms and tries so hard just to fly away,
Into a life that he once knew, free from tears and pain.
