I'm not fine but I've been feeling better
It seems my mood today is dependent on the weather
It's hard to fake the smiles we exchange
While watching all your friends slowly separate
You said, "It's time to grow up"
In case you were ever alone
You made plans to change
So you were always acting your age
Don't ever grow up, because I like you the way you are now
I thought you knew everyone's afraid
Can't you see them diving head first into their graves?
I thought you learned it's the simple things we've made
The bonds that we've created nobody can take
I thought you said we're exactly the same
I guess that's how I knew that you would never stay
I'm tired
I'm wasted
Don't ever grow up because I like you the way you are
