Now, the time of the year
Is finally here
It's the time when I spend
All my hours in fear
Emptiness just comes and goes
Hopefully, it doesn't show

Voices calling my name
Deep inside of my brain
They don't stop 'cause
They're trying to drive me insane
I don't know why you went away
Ooh, the memories will never fade

December once again
December once again
December once again

Like the stars in the sky,
I can still see in your eyes
It's the same old pattern
That never dies
I can't seem to leave behind
This emptiness inside my mind

There's a mist in the air
And the feeling is bare,
Keeps me dreaming of you
It just isn't fair
I don't know why you went away
Ooh, the memories will never fade

December once again
December once again
December once again

(Memories will never fade)
Why'd you have to go away?
(All the times we used to share)
Why'd you have to go away?
(December feelings once again)

Why'd you have to go away?
(Memories will never fade)
Why'd you have to go away, go away?

INSTRUMENTAL INTERLUDE

Now, the time of the year
Is finally here
It's the time when I spend
All my hours in fear
I don't know why you went away
The memories will never fade

December once again
December once again
December once again
December once again
December once again
December once again
December once again
December once again
