(Steve Summers)

well bless my soul she's right on time dressed to kill she looks so fine like greta garbo in gaberdine her image on the silverscreen well it's elementary like two plus two but it's animal just what i feel for you do you ever want to know me do you ever want to step in my dreams cause i'm tired of looking at pictures flipping through the magazines
do you ever want to know me
making love to what i see the rain is pouring down outside but i am safe i'm warm and dry well tell me now what's a boy to do falling for a girl like you well it's elementary like two plus two
do you ever want to know me
flipping through the magazines

do you ever want to know to step in my dreams
always alluding to your offers of the big-time i had trouble understanding what was really mine was it here today maybe gone tomorrow was it a love that i have or is it a love that i borrow because you can see that life is just a question although largely based on our decisions should i do this should i do that could i make this could i be that well it's elementary like two plus two

flipping through the magazines
