You're no dame, I'm no Duke
Somehow love is a fluke
We've survived thick and thin
Taking knocks on the chin

In the eyes of the sad
We may be barking mad
But the truth has been ceased
We are like chalk and cheese

You wind me up and I drive you mad
It's a fact of life it goes hand in hand
And I know that look
It's read like a book

And I realize
I don't care what the world has to say
You should know that I love you
I love you I love you today
(I don't care what the world has to say)
(Heaven knows that I'm in love)

When the boat starts to rock
Then my ears start to block
All the words that you say
Through the night through the day

Where there's muck, there is brass
And the storm soon will pass
Then it's back to the norm
All the cold turns to warm

Sometimes I think life crawls like a snail
And all our dreams become the wind in your sails
Without wealth it's true
Who cares what you do

And I realize
I don't care what the world has to say
You should know that I love you
I love you I love you today

I can feel the eyes behind us as we walk
I can see the ears that listen when we talk
I don't care what the world has to say
You should know that I love you

I love you, I love you today
(I don't care what the world has to say)
(Heaven knows that I'm in love)
