I feel like Im pounding on a big door, no one can hear me knocki-in I feel like Im fallin flat to the floor, no one can catch me from fallin

The hour glass has no more grains of sa-and My watch has stopped, no more turnin ha-and We could abandon the ship, the lights are on but no one is there-ere-ere

Take it to the bridge, throw it overboard, see if it can swim
Back into the shore, no ones in the house, everyone is out
All the lights are on and the blinds are down
Take it to the bridge, throw it overboard, see if it can
Back into the shore, no ones in the house, everyone is
All the lights are on and the blinds are down

I feel like Im callin' on a telephone, no one can hear the ringi-i-in I feel like Im running up a steep hill, no one can stop me from runnin

The hour glass has no more grains of sa-and
The little hand shakes its fist, the face is hangin out on a spri-i-ing

Take it to the bridge, throw it overboard, see if it can
Back into the shore, no ones in the house, everyone is
All the lights are on and the blinds are down
Take it to the bridge, throw it overboard, see if it can
Back into the shore, no ones in the house, everyone is

Take it to the bridge, throw it overboard, see if it can
Back into the shore, no ones in the house, everyone is
All the lights are on and the blinds are down
Take it to the bridge, throw it overboard, see if it can
Back into the shore, no ones in the house, everyone is
All the lights are on and the blinds are down

The hour glass has no more grains of sa-and, little red grains of sa-a-and My watch has stopped, no more turnin hands, little
